About The Conference

Emotional intelligence taps into a fundamental element of human behavior that is distinct from intellect. Emotional intelligence is a flexible set of skills that can be acquired and improved with practice. The essential premise of EI is that to be successful requires the effective awareness, control and management of one's own emotions, and those of other people. It embraces two aspects of intelligence, which are understanding yourself, your goals, intentions, responses, behaviour and understanding others, their feelings and behaviours. The theme of the conference has been conceptualized to explore the dimensions of experiences, theory and application of Emotional Intelligence. Continued research on the assessment and development of emotional and social intelligence competencies represents an opportunity for theoretical and applied applications of behavioral science to the management of human capital. This is expected to help build a strong nation in the years to come.
